

Mold Policy

If you have visible mold or suspect the presence of mold in your dwelling, we recommend you enlist the services of a mold testing company.

If the testing results show dangerous levels of mold, the testing company should provide you with a remediation protocol (method of removal).

In instances of major remediation, as determined by the Building Department, we will require that a licensed contractor secures a building permit for the remediation.

A successful air quality test will be required before the permit is completed.

While the City of Sterling Heights does not recommend any particular company, the following companies are deemed qualified and can address our mold requirements.
